CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

CIBC Personal Deposit Account Agreement

This Agreement applies to the personal deposit accounts you open with us and should be read together with the Disclosure Documentation. Signing the Personal Deposit Account and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Application or opening or using your account means that you received, read, understood and agree to this Agreement.

Part I - Terms and Conditions for Your Personal Deposit Account

1. Overview

This Agreement and the Disclosure Documentation describe the terms that apply to the personal deposit accounts you open with us.

2. Access to Your Accounts

You can access your account in a variety of ways, including using:

- cheques;
- pre-authorized debits;
- online banking (the CIBC Electronic Access Agreement, as amended, supplemented or replaced from time to time, will apply to all transactions you perform using online banking);
- telephone banking; and
- account withdrawals (the CIBC Convenience Banking Service Agreement, as amended, supplemented or replaced from time to time, will apply to all transactions you perform using ATMs).

Access to your account and transactions may be subject to daily or other limits set by us from time to time.

3. Use of Your Accounts

You will only use your account for personal, household or family purposes. You will not use your account:

- for any business that you own or in which you have any interest; or
- for any illegal, fraudulent or improper purposes.

You will not make any deposits into a wallet or night depository unless you have a separate wallet or night depository agreement with us.

4. Record-Keeping Options and Reviewing Transactions

You may choose one of the following record-keeping options for your account:

- Paperless. You agree to use online banking, telephone banking and/or CIBC ATMs at least once every 30 days in order to examine all account entries and balances;
- Statement. We will mail or otherwise send a statement to your address indicated in the branch of account's records. When you receive your statement, you agree to examine all account entries and balances in it. If a statement is returned to CIBC because it cannot be delivered, no further statements will be sent to you until such time as you provide CIBC with a current mailing address and you will be treated as if your record-keeping is paperless.

5. Notification of Errors

If you believe that there is an error in your account entries or balances, you must tell us in writing as follows:

- Paperless. Within 60 days after the date on which the entry was, or should have been, posted to your account according to our records (that date may be different from the day indicated when you review account entries through online banking, telephone banking and/or CIBC ATMs); and
- Statement. Within 30 days after the date on which the statement was mailed or otherwise sent to you. Our records will be conclusive evidence of the date that we mailed or sent you your account statement.

6. Liability for Failure to Notify

If you do not tell us in writing of errors within the time limits set out in section 5 above, then:

- we may regard:
 - all entries and balances as correct;
 - all cheques paid from the account as genuine, and authorized and signed by you; and
 - all amounts charged to your account as properly chargeable to you;
- you are not entitled to be credited with any amount that is not shown as posted in the statement, or through online banking, telephone banking and/or CIBC ATMs; and
- you release us from all claims, including claims for negligence, in connection with the account. This release does not apply to claims for gross negligence or willful misconduct or intentional fault by us, in which case our liability will be limited to the lesser of:
 - the amount of the debit or charge to the account; or

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

- the direct damages you suffer. We will not be liable for any indirect, special or consequential damages.

These provisions apply even if your statement is delayed or never received for any reason (e.g. because it is lost in the mail or in transmission) or, if you select paperless record-keeping, you do not use online banking, telephone banking and/or CIBC ATMs to review your account entries and balances at least once every 30 days.

We may, without notice to you, reverse or correct any debit or credit transactions which were posted in error to your account at any time.

7. Reporting Loss, Theft or Unauthorized Use and Related Liability

You agree to keep your CIBC bank card, and cheques safe at all times and to take reasonable steps to protect them. You must notify us immediately about any:

- actual or suspected loss, theft or unauthorized use of any cheques; or
- other circumstance in which one might reasonably conclude that a fraud may occur on your account.

Subject to any other agreement you may have with us, we are not liable for any improper withdrawal from the account or other loss if you have not given us immediate notice as required by this section, or if your estate has not given us immediate notice of your death.

8. Liability for forgeries, etc.

We will not under any circumstances be liable to you for any loss, even if you notified us within the time limits set out in section 5 above, arising from:

- a forged or unauthorized endorsement on, or any alteration of, a cheque drawn on your account (unless we negotiated the cheque); or
- a forged or unauthorized signature on a cheque, unless we conclude that you took all reasonable steps to prevent that signature and the resulting loss, and that despite those steps, the loss was unavoidable.

9. Instructions

We may act upon any written instructions or other information relating to your account or dealings that is provided by mail or other delivery method we approve for use by you.

If you send instructions or notice to us through ordinary mail, it must be sent to the branch of account unless we agree otherwise. Instructions or other information received by mail or other delivery method will be considered to be received by us only when it is brought to the attention of the officer at the branch of account to whom it is addressed. Instructions or information not addressed to any particular person will be considered to be addressed to the manager of the branch of account.

10. Processing of Cheques and Similar Items

A waiting period or "hold" as disclosed in our hold policy from time to time will be placed on the amount of cheques deposited or transferred to your account before you are able to withdraw the funds. We may, however, permit you to immediately access a portion of the deposited funds. We may change or cancel this privilege at any time and without notice to you.

All cheques deposited to the account are credited subject to final payment by the financial institution on which the cheque is drawn. This means that if a cheque is returned unpaid for any reason, we will charge the amount of the cheque to the account, plus fees. We may attempt to obtain payment for the cheque from the drawer of the cheque or the drawer's bank, but we will not be liable for doing so late or improperly.

Cheques deposited to your account may be returned unpaid, either during or after the expiry of the hold period, or after we release the hold.

We may charge to the account the amount of any cheque drawn on the account, as soon as it is negotiated or deposited at any CIBC branch or agency. We may pay the cheque even if it is not physically delivered to or presented at the address of the CIBC branch shown on the front of the cheque.

You waive presentment, protest and notice of dishonour on every cheque received by us in any way for discount, deposit, collection or acceptance on your account. You will be liable to us for any cheque received for your account as if it was presented, protested and given notice of dishonour in the usual way.

You will continue to be liable for cheques drawn on or deposited to the account which are outstanding and have not been cleared even after the account is closed.

11. Digital Images or Electronic Representations

We may use digital images or electronic representations of cheques, or the relevant information from cheques, in the exchange and clearing of payments in Canada and elsewhere, in which case the original paper cheque may be destroyed and not returned to you. We are entitled to act upon a digital image or electronic representation or information for all purposes as if it were the original paper cheque. You acknowledge that CIBC and other financial institutions may reject any cheque that does not comply with all by-laws, regulations, rules and standards of the Canadian Payments Association.

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

12. Fees and Charges

You must pay, and we may charge to your account, any fees and charges and any other amounts you may owe us under this Agreement or under any other agreement you have with us, including:

- the fees and charges set out in the Disclosure Documentation; and
- any expenses we incur in responding to any third party legal notice or document.

If you do not make a payment when due, or do not comply with any obligation in this Agreement, we may charge you to recover any costs, including legal costs and expenses (to the fullest extent permitted by law), we reasonably incur for any action we take to collect the amount you owe us or to enforce any obligation and our charges for any cheque that is dishonoured (NSF).

We may change our fees and charges at any time. We will provide you with notice of those changes, as required by law.

13. Interest Information

Interest is paid on interest-bearing accounts at rates that vary from time to time. Interest is earned in the currency of the account.

From time to time, we may change interest rates and the method by which interest is calculated. If you have an interest-bearing account, we will advise you of the interest rate(s) and any changes to how interest is calculated by posting the new rate(s) and any interest calculation changes in all of CIBC's branches.

You may not receive interest on an interest-bearing account if your balance falls below a certain level we determine or if the interest rate payable on such account is zero percent.

14. Overdrafts

We may allow an overdraft to arise in your account for any reason (including as a result of account withdrawals, paying cheques, charging service fees, or otherwise). If we allow your account to become overdrawn, then you must pay the overdrawn amount immediately plus service fee(s). Interest and other amounts as specified in the Disclosure Documentation. Changes to the interest rate or how interest is calculated are effective when notice of the change is posted at CIBC branches or is mailed or sent to you or on any date set out in the notice.

If you do not repay the amounts owing as required, we may, without notice to you, convert your indebtedness to a demand loan. The conversion will take effect immediately. We will determine in our sole discretion the conditions of the loan. You acknowledge that we will, upon conversion of your indebtedness to a loan, report your default to credit bureaus as a fully delinquent loan. We may close your account, direct a third party to collect all indebtedness you owe us and/or assign your indebtedness to a third party for collection.

If you applied and were approved for the CIBC Overdraft Protection Service for your account, this section is subject to the CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum.

15. Suspending, Freezing, Blocking or Terminating Use of your Account

We may suspend, freeze, block or terminate your right to use your account, without notice even if you are not in default of this Agreement or we have never done so in the past, if:

- you are a victim of fraud or identity theft in order to prevent future losses;
- required by law;
- if there is a dispute about, or it is uncertain to us, who is entitled to funds in the account;
- we have reasonable grounds to believe that you did or may commit fraud, used or will use the account for any unlawful purpose, or caused or will cause us a loss;
- you operate the account in an unsatisfactory manner or contrary to our policies;
- you violate the terms of any agreement applicable to the account or any related service; or
- we choose to.

16. Joint Accounts

If more than one of you signs the Personal Deposit Account and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Application as account holder, then this is a joint account, and the following terms also apply:

- Joint and Separate Liability. Each of you is individually liable, and all of you are jointly liable (or in Quebec, solidarily liable), to pay us any amounts that any of you may owe in respect of the account and the Agreement.
- Notices/Statements. We need not send account notices or statements to all of you. Notices and statements will be effective and binding on all of you when they are provided to any one of you at the branch of account, or by electronic means (which may include posting a notice on online banking), or when they are sent to any one of you at his/her latest address in the branch of account's records. Any one of you may consent to receiving notices and statements by electronic means and such consent is binding on all of you.
- Communications/Instructions. We may communicate with any one of you about joint account matters. If you indicated on the Personal Deposit Account and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Application, or otherwise in writing, that any one of you can deal with us, then any one of you may instruct us regarding the operation of the joint account including transferring the joint account from the branch of account to another CIBC branch, changing the joint account address in the branch of account's records, or closing the joint account. All joint accountholders must consent to any changes in ownership of the account.

- Sharing Information. Each of you may be provided account information including transactions and account related information of the other joint accountholder(s). This includes information about the account prior to it becoming a joint account.
- Debits. If you indicated on the Personal Deposit Account and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Application, or otherwise in writing, that debits can be made by one of you, then we will debit the account for any cheque, receipt or other voucher which is signed by any one of you and any one of you may debit the account by any other means which we may permit from time to time (including electronically, orally, or by telephone). Each of you is responsible for any unauthorized debit which may occur by any of these means, to the extent provided in any agreement governing that method of debit.
- Deposits. We may deposit to the joint account all cheques which are payable to, or for the credit or account of, any one or more of you, even if they are not endorsed by any of you.
- Joint Tenancy (not applicable if any one of you is resident in Quebec at the time of his/her death). All money which is now or may later be credited to the account (including all interest) is the joint property of all of you with the "right of survivorship". That means that if one of you dies, all money in the joint account automatically becomes the property of the surviving accountholder(s). To make this legally effective, all of you assign such money to the other (or to the others jointly if there are more than two of you). After your death, we will only have obligations to the surviving accountholder(s), and anyone else making a claim against the joint account after your death must deal with the surviving accountholder(s).

On the death of any accountholder, and upon notification with proof of death, we will remove the deceased accountholder's name from the account. The surviving accountholders undertake to ensure that any EFT payment that is credited to the account and to which the surviving accountholders are not entitled, or that is intended to be credited to the benefit of the deceased accountholder, is, as applicable:

- a) returned to the payer or we are notified immediately to have the EFT payment returned; or
- b) delivered to the estate of the deceased accountholder.

The surviving accountholders agree to be liable and indemnify us for all claims against us in connection with EFT payments to the deceased accountholder, preauthorized debits or other debits in the deceased accountholder's name, or cheques written by the deceased accountholder prior to their death.

We will not recognize any arrangement that requires us to pay the money in the account on death of an accountholder to anyone other than a surviving accountholder. We are not required to act in accordance with any trust intended or granted by you with respect to the account or any monies in it, even if we are aware of such trust, and this binds your estate and any beneficiary of such trust.

- Joint Account with a Spouse or Former Spouse (only applicable if the account is opened in Quebec). If you open or have a joint account with only one other person who is your spouse or former spouse (including a de facto spouse or former spouse), both of you may designate your respective share in the money in the account solely for the purpose that we remit that share to you in the event one of you dies, by jointly signing a written declaration to that effect. To do so, you and the other joint accountholder must visit a CIBC banking centre and complete our declaration form. You may jointly, at any time and in the same manner, change this declaration. It is your responsibility to inform us of any change to your respective share of the money in the account. If you do not make such a declaration, your respective share will be deemed to be half of the money in the account in the event one of you dies.

On the death of any accountholder, and upon notification with proof of death, you may request in writing your share or a part of your share of the money in the account. To do so, you must visit a CIBC banking centre and complete our request form.

We will not recognize any arrangement in the account on death of an accountholder to anyone or in any proportion other than as indicated above. We are not required to act in accordance with any trust intended or granted by you with respect to the account or any monies in it, even if we are aware of such trust, and this binds your estate and any beneficiary of such trust.

- Legal Representative. All of you consent that the legal representative of a joint accountholder has the same right of access to the joint account as the joint accountholder. We may rely on a legal representative who is acting for any one of you.

17. Youth Account with a Signing Authority

If the accountholder is a youth and the parent or custodial guardian or, in Quebec, tutor of the youth has signing authority on the account, the account is referred to as a youth account with signing authority. The following additional terms apply to the youth account:

- Nature of the Account. The youth account is held in the name of the youth alone. The person with signing authority on the account (the "signing authority") must provide us with appropriate proof of ID and, if a custodial guardian or court-appointed tutor, original or certified copy of the appropriate legal documentation proving the guardianship or tutorship, in accordance with legal requirements in your jurisdiction. The signing authority acknowledges that funds in the account belong to the youth accountholder and agrees to exercise their signing authority in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. The youth may access the account and other services by any channel permitted by CIBC from time to time including banking centres, ATMs, CIBC bank card, Telephone Banking and Online Banking. The youth may conduct any transactions including cheques, withdrawals, transfers, pre-authorized payments, bill payments, and debit purchases. CIBC may require that the youth consent to this Agreement and, if such consent is requested by CIBC and not provided by the youth, we may suspend, freeze, block or terminate your right to use the account.

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

- Removal of the Signing Authority. The youth may, upon reaching the age of thirteen, request removal of the signing authority from the account without consent of the signing authority. Upon the youth reaching the age of thirteen, meeting all our requirements for signing authority on the account, including providing adequate proof of ID of the youth, and requesting removal of the signing authority, the signing authority's authority to sign on the account will automatically terminate without notice and we may pay any funds in the account to the youth without the signing authority's consent.
- Payment Into Court. If there is a dispute about, or it is uncertain to us who has legal authority over the property of the youth, we are entitled to either apply to the courts for directions or pay all or part of the proceeds of the account into court or to the applicable government official. This includes if there are multiple signing authorities who cannot agree and from whom we cannot obtain joint instructions as necessary. We may recover any legal or other costs we incur in this regard from the account or from the signing authority as an expense referred to in the indemnity provision below.
- Indemnity. The signing authority agrees to reimburse us for any losses, costs, and expenses which we may incur (including our legal fees), and will hold us harmless from and defend us against any lawsuits or other claims and demands which may be made against us in connection with the account, including, but not limited to, third party demands against funds in the account, any claims based on trust by any person, any claims based on any person acting as legal or de facto guardian or administrator of property of another, the operation of the account by the signing authority, the youth's use or misuse of the account or other services, or, if the signing authority has requested that a CIBC bank card be issued to the youth, use or misuse of the CIBC bank card by the youth while the youth is under the age of thirteen. For example (but not to limit the signing authority's obligations under this indemnity), the signing authority will indemnify us and hold us harmless if the youth:
 - does not comply with the CIBC bank card agreement, as amended or replaced from time to time;
 - denies liabilities incurred by him/her;
 - does not keep any secret code/PIN absolutely confidential, other than sharing with the signing authority;
 - loses the CIBC bank card and neither the youth or the signing authority advise us;
 - makes an improper or careless transaction (including cheques, debit purchases, withdrawals, and transfers)
 - makes worthless or altered deposits;
 - causes the account to become overdrawn; and
 - allows a third party to access or use the account.

The signing authority authorizes us to set off any or all amounts they may owe us from time to time under this indemnity against any deposits they may have with us or any affiliate of ours no matter how long the amount has been owed to us. The signing authority will be released automatically from this indemnity if and when the youth reaches the age of majority in the province in which the youth lives and agrees to be bound by the applicable agreements governing the use of the account, channels and other services. The signing authority will not be released from this indemnity for any other reason, including if: agreements, channels and/or other services change from time to time; we and the youth make any arrangement between us with respect to the youth's liabilities; or we choose to waive any right we have against the youth or the signing authority. This indemnity survives the termination of the account.

- Legal and Tax Advice. We have not provided tax or legal advice regarding the account to either the youth or the signing authority and recommend professional legal and tax advice about establishing and operating the account with a signing authority be obtained.
- Incapacity or Death of Signing Authority. The signing authority cannot appoint a delegate or agent to operate the account under a power of attorney or otherwise. If there are multiple signing authorities, as provided below, and one of them dies or becomes unable to act, as determined by us based on information provided to our satisfaction, the remaining signing authority can continue to act alone. If the sole or remaining signing authority dies or becomes unable to act, as determined by us based on information provided to our satisfaction, we may permit a parent, custodial guardian or court-appointed tutor of the youth who was not the signing authority (the "successor signing authority"), to have signing authority over the account and to close the account and open another account for the youth with the successor signing authority as the signing authority. We may require proof satisfactory to us (which may include court documentation) of the status or capacity of the signing authority and the successor signing authority. If there is no successor signing authority and the youth is under the age of majority, we will close the account and pay the funds in the account to the youth or into court or to the applicable government official, as we in our discretion determine.
- Multiple Signing Authorities. There can be a maximum of two signing authorities, who are both the parents, custodial guardians or tutors of the youth. If more than one of you signs the Personal Deposit Account and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Application as signing authority, then the following terms also apply:
 - Reference to Signing Authority. Any reference to signing authority means both signing authorities.

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

- Joint and Separate Liability. Each of you is individually liable, and all of you are jointly liable (or in Quebec, solidarily liable), under the "Indemnity" section above and to pay us any amounts that any of you may owe in respect of the account and the Agreement.
- Notices/Statements. We need not send account notices or statements to all of you. Notices and statements will be effective and binding on all of you when they are provided to any one of you at the branch of account, or by electronic means (which may include posting a notice on online banking), or when they are sent to any one of you at his/her latest address in the branch of account's records. Any one of you may consent to receiving notices and statements by electronic means and such consent is binding on all of you.
- Instructions and Communications. If you indicated on the Personal Deposit Account and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Application, or otherwise in writing, that any one of you can deal with us, then any one of you can deal with us and any one of you may instruct us regarding the operation of the youth account including transferring the youth account from the branch of account to another CIBC branch, changing the youth account address in the branch of account's records, or closing the youth account. We may communicate with any one of you about youth account matters.
- Sharing Information. Each of you may be provided account information including transactions and account related information of the other signing authority.
- Debits. We will debit the account for any cheque, receipt or other voucher which is signed by any one of you and any one of you may debit the account by any other means which we may permit from time to time (including electronically, orally, or by telephone). Each of you is responsible for any unauthorized debit which may occur by any of these means, to the extent provided in any agreement governing that method of debit.
- Death of Youth. If the youth dies, the account will be dealt with as part of the youth's estate.

18. Joint Account with Youth (accounts no longer available to be opened)

If one joint account holder is a youth the following additional terms apply to the joint account:

- Payment Into Court. If there is a dispute about, or it is uncertain to us who has legal authority over the property of the youth, we are entitled to either apply to the courts for directions or pay all or part of the proceeds of the account into court or to the applicable government official. We may recover any legal or other costs it incurs in this regard from the account or from any account holder as an expense referred to in the indemnity provision below.
- Indemnity. The joint account holder who is not a youth agrees to reimburse us for any losses, costs, and expenses which we may incur (including our legal fees), and will hold us harmless from and defend us against any lawsuits or other claims and demands which may be made against us in connection with the account, including, but not limited to, third party demands against funds in the account, any claims based on trust by any person or any claims based on any person acting as legal or de facto guardian or administrator of property of another or the operation of the account by an account holder. This indemnity survives the termination of the account.
- Legal and Tax Advice. We have not provided tax or legal advice regarding the joint account with a youth and recommended you seek professional legal and tax advice about establishing and operating the joint account with a youth.

19. In Trust for Youth Accounts (accounts no longer available to be opened)

The following additional terms apply only to in trust for youth accounts:

- Nature of the Account. The account is held as a bare trust by the youth trustee for the youth. The youth trustee acknowledges that funds in the account do not belong personally to the youth trustee. All tax slips will be issued using the social insurance number of the youth provided. The youth may request signing authority upon reaching the age of majority in the province in which he/she lives without consent of the youth trustee. Upon the youth reaching the applicable age of majority and meeting all our requirements for signing authority, the signing authority of the youth trustee will automatically terminate without notice and we may pay any funds in the account to the youth without the youth trustee's consent.
- Incapacity/Death of Youth Trustee. The youth trustee cannot appoint a delegate or agent to operate the account under a power of attorney or otherwise. If the youth trustee dies or becomes unwilling or unable to act, we may permit a parent or custodial guardian of the youth who was not the youth trustee (the "successor youth trustee"), to have signing authority over the account and to close the account and open another in trust for youth account for the youth with the successor youth trustee as the youth trustee. We may require proof satisfactory to it (which may include court documentation) of the status or capacity of the youth trustee and the successor youth trustee.
- Death of Youth. If the youth dies, the account will be dealt with as part of the youth's estate.
- Payment Into Court. If there is a dispute about, or we are uncertain who has legal authority over the property of the youth or the status or capacity of the youth trustee or a successor trustee, we are entitled to either apply to the courts for directions or pay all or part of the proceeds of the account into court or to the applicable government official. We may recover any legal or other costs we incur in this regard from the account or from the youth trustee as an expense referred to in the indemnity provision below.

may be made against us in connection with the account, including, but not limited to, third party demands against funds in the account, the youth trustee's failure to properly carry out his/her duties as a bare trustee and the operation of the account by the youth trustee. The youth trustee authorizes us to set-off any or all amounts he/she may owe us from time to time under this indemnity against any deposits he/she may have with us or any affiliate of ours no matter how long the amount has been owed to us. This indemnity survives the termination of the account.

20. Foreign Currency Transactions

We may permit transactions in a currency different from that of your account. The foreign currency will be converted to the currency of your account at the exchange rate and on a date determined by us. This date may be different from the date you performed the transaction. We may earn money on the difference between the bid and ask prices of the cost of the currency, which is in addition to any fee you pay us on the foreign currency transaction or any fees you pay us for your account.

Foreign currency cheques deposited to your account and returned to us unpaid for any reason will be converted to the currency of the account based on a foreign currency exchange sell rate determined by us on a date determined by us and the converted amount will be charged back to your account. We are not responsible for any losses you suffer due to changes in foreign currency exchange rates or the unavailability of funds due to foreign currency restrictions.

Any claims we may have against you, and any service or other charges related to your account, can be deducted from your account in the same currency as your account.

21. Dealing with Other Branches

You may be restricted in the type of transactions that you can do at a CIBC branch other than the branch of the account. We may charge to the account the amount of any cheque drawn on the account as soon as it is negotiated or deposited at any CIBC branch or agency. We may pay the cheque even if it is not physically presented at the address of the CIBC branch shown on the front of the cheque.

22. Existing CIBC Investor's Rate Accounts

23. Dormant Accounts

Accounts become dormant if there have been no deposits, withdrawals or cheques written on the account for the time period set out in the Disclosure Documentation available in any CIBC Banking Centre or online at www.cibc.com. If your account becomes dormant, and your record-keeping is by monthly statement, your record-keeping will be automatically changed to quarterly statements.

Statements will not be sent to you if there are no entries posted to the account for transactions, interest or charges since either the date your account was opened or the date of the last statement sent to you.

You may request a change to your record-keeping by contacting us.

We may close dormant accounts that have a nil balance.

24. Additional Terms for Loyalty Programs

Account services and benefits are subject to additional terms and conditions which may change from time to time and these account services and benefits may be cancelled without notice to you. Certain services and benefits may be supplied by third parties; we are not liable for any services or benefits not directly supplied by us. You must deal directly with the provider of services or benefits if there is a dispute.
- Loyalty Programs. If your account allows you to earn loyalty rewards from a loyalty program operated by a loyalty program provider; you acknowledge the following:

- New Accounts. If your account is changed to another type of account, your ability to earn loyalty rewards will be subject to the terms and conditions of the loyalty program associated with that new type of account.
- Sharing of Personal Information. You agree that we may share personal information with loyalty program providers in order for them to open loyalty program accounts, award loyalty rewards and administer loyalty programs. For more information on how we may collect, use or share your personal information, see section 36 below.

- the survivor(s) must immediately notify us in writing and we may take such steps or require such documentation (including a certified copy of the death certificate, a letter or direction, and notarized copy of the letters probate or other court documentation) or restrict transactions as we deem prudent or advisable;
- we may execute transactions and deal with this Agreement and the account as though the death had not occurred until we have received written notice of the death;
- the deceased's estate will remain liable, jointly and severally (in Quebec, solidarily) with the surviving accountholders, for any debit balance or other liabilities in connection with this Agreement; and
- on request of his or her estate representative, we will provide the estate representative with any documents and information relating to this Agreement that the deceased was entitled to while alive, up to and including the date of death (including forms, correspondence, transactions, statements, and balances).

27. Power of Attorney or Other Legal Representative During Your Lifetime

You may appoint someone else to deal with this Agreement and the account if you have a duly executed power of attorney, in a form acceptable to us. We may require proof or validation, satisfactory to us (including court documents), of their authority, including to do any transaction, and we may refuse to deal with them. You release us from any claim or liability when acting upon their instructions.

If anyone is appointed as legal representative of your property (either by statute or by court order), we may require proof or validation, satisfactory to us (including court documents), of such their authority, including to do any transaction.

We do not need to inform any other accountholder of any appointment of an attorney or other legal representative or actions by them.

28. Payment into Court

If there is a dispute or uncertainty about who is entitled to the proceeds of the account or to instruct on the account due to your alleged or actual incapacity or any marriage/common-law partnership breakdown, or who is legally entitled to apply for and accept payment on your death, we are entitled to either apply to the court for directions or pay any or all of the account proceeds into court and be fully discharged. In either case, we can recover any legal and other costs we incur in this regard from the account.

29. Set-Off by CIBC

If you owe any obligation to us, we may, without notice to you, set the obligation off against, or compensate the obligation from, any amount we owe you under this Agreement, no matter how long either amount has been owed. We can do this even if we have not made any demand and even if the amount is not due and payable. We can also do this even if your account is a joint account or if other third parties have made demands to you.

If we receive notice of your bankruptcy, insolvency or similar arrangement, we may immediately exercise this right of set-off or compensation.

This right is in addition to any rights we may have at law or in equity to set-off or to compensation.

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

You waive any right of set-off or deduction you may have. You must make all payments owing under this Agreement without cancelling, reducing, offsetting, compensating, abatement, counterclaiming or deducting, or holding back any amounts.

30. Third Party Demands

We will comply with any lawful third party demands that we receive. We may, but do not have to, notify you that we have received a legal notice or document before we comply with it. If we incur any expenses when responding to a third party demand or legal notice relating to your account we may charge them to your account. We may be required by law to restrict your account.

Any legal notice or document issued by a third party will be effectively served if served on us at a CIBC branch. We may accept service at any other location that we may designate from time to time.

We may serve you with any legal notice or document by mailing it to you by ordinary mail, or in accordance with any other method permitted by applicable law or this Agreement.

Any payment we make to a third party claimant in good faith is a discharge of our obligations to the extent of the amount paid.

31. Indemnity

You, your heirs, and your estate representatives indemnify and save harmless us and each of our directors, officers, custodians, agents, and employees from and against all liabilities of any nature whatsoever (including all expenses reasonably incurred in the defense thereof) that may at any time be incurred by any of us, or be brought against us by any person, regulatory authority, or government authority, and that may in any way arise out of or be connected in any way with this Agreement. If we are entitled to and make any claim under this indemnity, we may pay the claim from your account. If there are not sufficient funds in your account, you agree to personally pay the amount of the claim and we may apply monies held for you in any other account with us or any affiliate, including joint accounts, other than a registered retirement savings plan or registered retirement income fund, to eliminate or reduce such claim.

32. Limitation of CIBC's Liability

You understand and agree that, except as otherwise provided for in this Agreement, we will be liable to you only for direct damages resulting from our gross negligence, fraud or willful misconduct arising directly from our performance of our obligations under this Agreement. We will not be liable to you for any other direct damages.

We will not under any circumstances be liable to you for any other damages, including indirect, incidental, special, general, punitive or consequential damages, loss of profits, loss of revenue, loss of business opportunities, inconvenience, or any other foreseeable or unforeseeable loss resulting directly or indirectly out of this Agreement or the services provided to you, even if we were advised of the possibility of damages or were negligent. These limitations apply to any act or omission of CIBC, its affiliates, agents or suppliers, whether or not the act or omission would otherwise give rise to a cause of action in contract, tort, statute or any other doctrine of law. Gross negligence in this section means conduct (whether through action or inaction, or through words or silence) which is (i) a marked and flagrant departure from the conduct ordinarily expected of a reasonable and prudent person in the position of CIBC, or (ii) so wanton and reckless as to constitute an utter disregard for harmful, foreseeable and avoidable consequences.

3. Repayment of Indebtedness

You will pay all Indebtedness on demand by CIBC. At least once every 90 days, you must make deposits sufficient to bring your Account into a positive balance for at least one full Business Day. The date on which you are required to bring your Account into a positive balance is identified on your statement as the "Overdraft balance due by". Deposits to your Account are treated as repayments of Indebtedness. You can use the Service to pay off other debts, but you cannot move your debts around (whether with CIBC or loans you may have from another lender). You will not use the Service to repay Indebtedness. In other words, you will not attempt to satisfy your obligation to repay Indebtedness by taking an Account Withdrawal on one Account and transferring the amount withdrawn into another Account.

4. Interest and fees

- a) CIBC provides two overdraft fee options*:
- Monthly Fixed Fee. A fixed fee of $5.00 that is applied to the Account at month end regardless of utilization of the overdraft; or
 - Pay Per Use Fee (not applicable in Quebec). A $5.00 fee that is applied to the Account for any business day in which an overdraft is created or increased. There is no charge unless you use the Service.

*Overdraft fees are charged to your Account if your Account is overdrawn for any reason (including as a result of withdrawals, paying cheques, the charging of service fees, or otherwise). CIBC does not provide the Pay Per Use Fee option in Quebec. If you reside outside of Quebec, you should select the overdraft fee option that best suits your needs. In addition, you have the ability to change the overdraft fee option at any time, through your CIBC Branch, Telephone Banking or CIBC Online Banking. The overdraft fee option you select will take effect as of the following business day. Overdraft fees for the month in which a change is requested by you will be applied based on the greater of, any Pay Per Use fees or the Monthly Fixed Fee for that month. All fees relating to the Service are for the availability of the Service for each year commencing with the date that the Service begins.

- b) Interest. For each calendar month in which an Account is overdrawn, you will pay CIBC interest on the Indebtedness, currently 21% per year. Interest will be calculated and debited monthly to the Account to which it relates, based on the final daily indebtedness in the Account throughout the calendar month. The rate of interest you will pay is the nominal annual interest rate set by CIBC from time to time in accordance with paragraph 7. Interest at the rate set by CIBC will apply both before and after the indebtedness becomes payable, before and after this Addendum is terminated, and before and after judgment is obtained against you. Even in a leap year, interest will be calculated by multiplying the then-outstanding principal amount by the current interest rate in effect at the applicable time, dividing the total amount by 365 and multiplying the result by the number of days in the payment period during which the amount is outstanding.
- c) Over Limit Fee. If CIBC chooses to process a debit which results in your exceeding your Overdraft Limit (based on end of day balances), you will pay CIBC an over limit fee of $5.00 plus interest on the Indebtedness, currently 21% per year, calculated in accordance with paragraph 4(b). This charge is in addition to the fees you pay under paragraph 4(a). We will only charge you amounts under this Addendum that are permissible by law. Over Limit Fee not applicable to Quebec residents.
- d) Other Charges. You authorize CIBC to debit to any Account CIBC's standard charge for processing your Application and any other fees established by CIBC from time to time, after CIBC notifies you in accordance with paragraph 7.

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

5. Overdraft limit

CIBC has set an Overdraft Limit for your Account (or each Account, if the Service applies to more than one Account). You will not make an Account Withdrawal which would cause your Overdraft Limit to be exceeded. CIBC has absolutely no obligation to pay an Account Withdrawal that would cause your Indebtedness to exceed your Overdraft Limit or to be further exceeded, if CIBC has allowed the Overdraft Limit to be exceeded already; CIBC may, if it so decides, simply return the Account Withdrawal unpaid. If CIBC should choose to allow one or more such Account Withdrawals, it has no obligation to do so again, at any time in the future. Should CIBC choose to allow the Indebtedness to exceed the Overdraft Limit, the overdraft terms in the CIBC Personal Account Agreement will apply to the portion of the Indebtedness that exceeds the Overdraft Limit. In other words, the fees that apply when there is no Service will apply to the Account Withdrawals that exceed the Overdraft Limit; interest at the interest rate that applies when there is no Service will apply on the portion of Indebtedness which exceeds the Overdraft Limit; and, you must repay that portion in accordance with the terms of the CIBC Personal Account Agreement.

6. Breach and termination of Addendum

CIBC may, in its discretion, suspend your access to the Service or terminate this Addendum without notice to you and refuse to pay any more Account Withdrawals, including Account Withdrawals you made/issued/authorized before the Addendum is terminated. CIBC may take this action if you fail to comply with the terms of this Agreement or for any other reason, in CIBC's sole discretion. If this Addendum is terminated, CIBC will give you notice of such termination and you must immediately repay all Indebtedness to CIBC, without demand. If you do not repay the Indebtedness as required under this Addendum or any other amount you owe CIBC when it is due (whether owed under this Addendum or some other agreement you have with CIBC), you agree that CIBC may, without notice and at its sole discretion, convert your Indebtedness to a demand loan, payable by you on the terms and conditions CIBC will provide. Upon conversion of your Indebtedness to a loan, CIBC will immediately cancel the Service. This conversion will take effect immediately and you hereby waive any right you may have to receive prior notice of the conversion. You acknowledge that CIBC will, upon conversion of your Indebtedness to a loan, report your default to credit bureaus as a fully delinquent loan. CIBC may, in its sole discretion, direct a third party to collect all Indebtedness you owe to CIBC or assign your Indebtedness to a third party for collection.

7. Changes to this Addendum, the interest rate or fees

CIBC is entitled to change the Addendum or the Service, including changing your Overdraft Limit, the interest rate and the fees which apply to the Service for any reason at any time. Any change will apply to Indebtedness existing on the date the change is effective and to Indebtedness arising after that date. Changes to your Overdraft Limit are effective when notice is mailed or sent to you or on any date set out in the notice.

Changes to fees and charges will be posted at CIBC branches, mailed or sent to you, or made available by any other method allowed by law, at least thirty days before the change is effective. All other changes to this Addendum or the Service (including changes to the interest rate) are effective at least thirty days after the notice of the change is posted at CIBC branches, mailed or sent to you, or made available by any other method allowed by law, or on any date set out in the notice.

All notices which are mailed to you will be mailed to your address on the Application or any other address CIBC has in connection with any Account. If more than one accountholder signs the Application, then you authorize CIBC to mail or send the notice to only one accountholder.

8. Non-residents

You will advise CIBC if you cease to be a Canadian resident. CIBC may then, in its sole discretion, immediately terminate this Addendum and require you to pay CIBC all amounts which you may owe under this Addendum, free and clear of all applicable taxes and withholdings.

9. Miscellaneous

Your obligations in sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of this Addendum will survive (continue to be in effect after) the termination of this Addendum. If any term of the CIBC Personal Account Agreement conflicts with a term in this Addendum, the term in this Addendum applies to the extent necessary to resolve the conflict. This Addendum shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws where the applicable CIBC branch/centre is located and the laws of Canada.

10. Cancellation of Service

You may cancel the Service only after you fully repay all Indebtedness owing to CIBC plus any charges (including interest) that have arisen to that time but have not been delivered to your Account. Please call 1-800-465-2422 to request cancellation. Once CIBC processes your cancellation request, you will no longer be able to use the Service, but you remain bound by the Personal Account Agreement in respect of your Account(s). Cancellation of your Service will be effective as of the earlier of: (i) the last day of the billing cycle; or (ii) 30 days after the notice of cancellation is received by CIBC. Once cancellation of your Service is effective, CIBC will refund or credit your Account for the amount of any charges you have paid for any part of the Service that is unused, if any, as of the day the cancellation takes effect to be calculated as follows:

CIBC Personal Deposit Account (and CIBC Overdraft Protection Service Addendum): Terms and Conditions

A x (B-C)/B

Where

A is the amount of the charges;

B is the period between imposition of the charges and the time when the services were, before the cancellation, scheduled to the end; and

C is the period between the imposition of the charges and the cancellation.

Protecting your deposits

Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation (CDIC) is a federal Crown corporation that insures more than $1 trillion in deposits held in member institutions. CDIC is fully funded by our members and coverage is free and automatic – you don't have to sign up.

CDIC protects eligible deposits in Canadian and foreign currency for up to $100,000 (Canadian dollars) in each of CDIC's insurance categories.

What's covered?

- Deposits in Canadian or foreign currency (including via payroll, Interac e-transfer, or cheque)
- Guaranteed Investment Certificates (GICs)
- Other term deposits

What's not covered?

- Mutual funds
- Stocks and bonds
- Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)
- Cryptocurrencies

Example: Jane Doe has placed the following funds at a CDIC member institution. Here's what does ✓ and does not ✗ qualify for CDIC coverage:

$ 40,000 in a GIC ✓
 $ 25,000 in a savings account ✓
 $ 25,000 in a chequing account ✓
 $ 130,000 in mutual funds ✗

$220,000 = Total Portfolio

$ 90,000 = Total Eligible Deposits

$ 90,000 = Total Deposits Protected by CDIC

Jane's GIC, savings and chequing accounts are in her name only and all qualify for CDIC coverage within the same coverage category (deposits held in one name). As a result, total amounts in these accounts are combined and are insured for up to a total of $100,000 in the event of a member institution's failure.

A word about financial service providers, products and deposit protection

CDIC deposit insurance may be available for eligible financial products offered by a CDIC member, another financial institution, a broker, a third-party financial service provider (for example, a financial technology company), or other providers. To find out if your deposits are protected by CDIC, speak to your financial service provider.

What happens if a CDIC member fails?

In the unlikely event of failure of a CDIC member institution, CDIC provides access to insured funds (including interest) within days. It's automatic – we will contact you.

What you can do

- Know what is covered and what is not
- Keep your address, phone number and email up-to-date at your financial institution
- Ask your broker or financial advisor about CDIC's rules for deposits held in trust including keeping up-to-date beneficiary information
